

Muriel's

Special party

---

Muriel was fast asleep when she heard Mummy calling ‘Wake up sleepyhead.’

‘Daddy and I have had a good idea,’ she said. ‘We think we should have a party in the garden with all your friends so they can meet the Rebeker Zoes.’

‘We want it to be a surprise, so Daddy is going to take the Rebeker Zoes out in the car while you get things ready.’

---

‘While he does that, we need you to phone the elephant, the mouse and the tiger and ask if they can come and help. Here’s my phone.’

So Muriel took the phone and called them. They were all very excited and said they’d love to come and help.

---

In the meantime, Daddy went downstairs and put on his hat and coat, ready to go out.

The Rebeker Zoes were in the kitchen finishing breakfast.

‘Good morning,’ said Daddy. ‘I’ve got to go out in the car, and I thought you might like to come for a ride.’

The Rebeker Zoes said 'Oh yes please!' so off they went in the car.

---

Muriel's animal friends were hiding waiting for the Rebekah Zoes to go.

---

As soon as the car had gone, they came out and started work.

Mummy made cakes and sandwiches, and Muriel and the animals made the garden look nice and got the table ready.

While all of this was going on, Daddy took the Rebeker Zoes to the top of a nearby hill, and they had a lovely time flying kites.

After they'd been playing for a little while, Daddy had a telephone call. It was Mummy saying that everything was ready.

'Right,' said Daddy. 'I think we should go back home for something to eat.'

---

When they got back, the Rebeker Zoes couldn't believe their eyes. The garden looked lovely and there was a table in the middle of it with all sorts of delicious food. And there were lots of new friends.

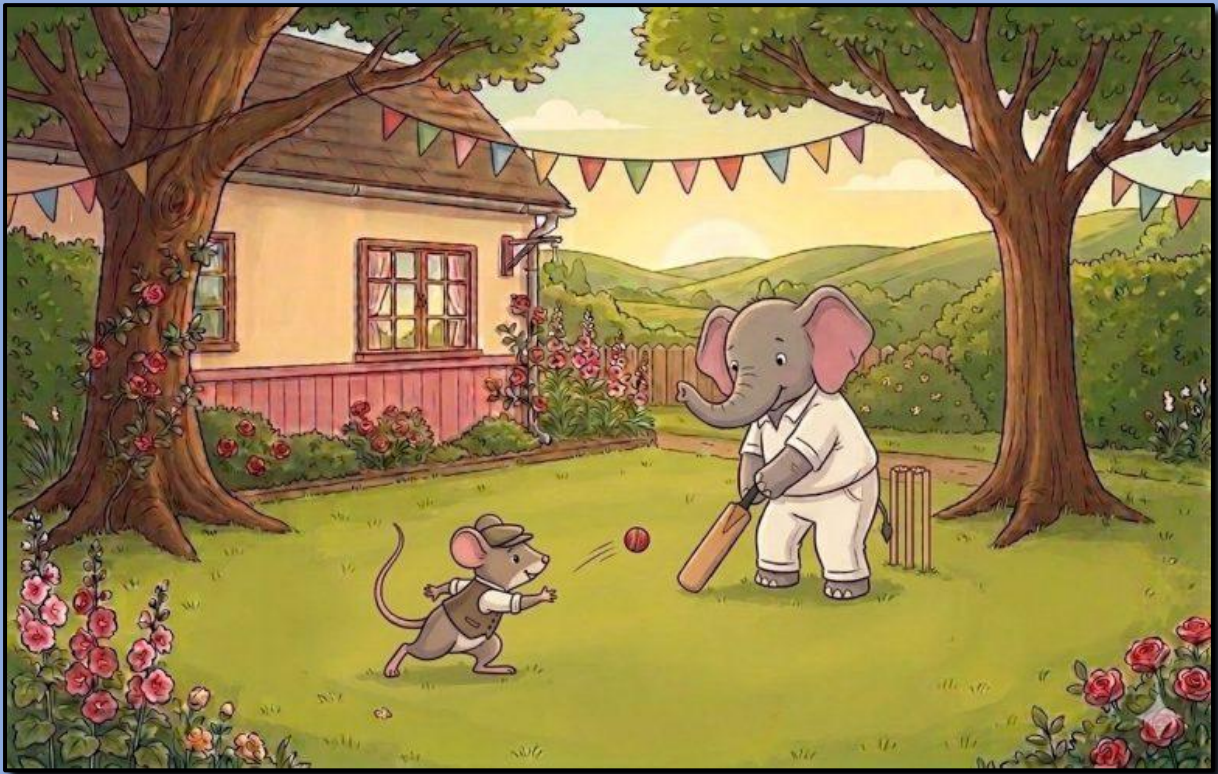

‘Surprise!’ said everyone.

And then they all sat down to have tea.

After tea they all had a lovely time playing cricket.

---

Soon, though, it was time for the animals to go home. Daddy said he'd drive them.

Muriel sighed. 'That was a lovely party,' she said.

'But now,' she added to the Rebeker Zoes, 'we'd better go and decide what adventure we're going to have tomorrow.'
